First: Monetary Policy

1.1 Rate of Return and Cash Reserve

SAMA has continuously been pursuing a monetary policy that aims at achieving price stability, supporting the various economic sectors in line with domestic and international economic developments, and assisting domestic banks to perform their financing role in the domestic economy. During the second quarter of 2016, SAMA maintained the same measures taken during the previous quarter, which are as follows:

- Maintaining the repo rate unchanged at 2 percent as well as the reverse repo rate at 0.50 percent. SAMA's daily average repo transactions stood at SAR 1.248 billion in Q2 2016 against SAR 1,638 billion in Q1 2016, while daily average reverse repo transactions amounted to SAR 29.3 billion in Q2 2016 compared to SAR 26.3 billion in Q1 2016.

- Maintaining the cash reserve ratio at 7.0 percent for demand deposits and 4.0 percent for time and savings deposits.

1.2 Interest Rates

To encourage domestic banks to increase lending, SAMA continued to maintain the limit of weekly subscription in treasury bills for domestic banks at SAR 9 billion in Q2 2016. The average three-month Saudi interbank offered rate (SAIBOR) increased to 2.073 percent at Q2 2016. The spread in the average three-month rates on deposits in riyal and dollar was 145 basis points in favor of the riyal at Q2 2016, compared to approximately 109 basis points at Q1 of 2016. As for the riyal exchange rate against the dollar, it remained unchanged at its official peg rate of 3.75.

SAMA deposits with banks are among the instruments that provide sustainable and adequate liquidity, which accounted for nearly SAR 12 billion or less than one percent of total deposits at the end of the second quarter of 2016.

As regards foreign exchange swaps, SAMA did not make any swap transaction with domestic banks in Q2 2016.
