Monetary and Banking Developments

First: Monetary Policy

1.1 Rate of Return and Cash Reserve

SAMA has continuously been adopting a monetary policy that aims at achieving price stability, supporting the various economic sectors in line with domestic and international economic developments, and assisting domestic banks to perform their financing role in the domestic economy. During the third quarter of 2016, SAMA maintained the same measures taken during the previous quarter, which are as follows:

- Maintaining the repo rate unchanged at 2 percent as well as the reverse repo rate at 0.50 percent. SAMA's daily average repo transactions stood at SAR 0.653 billion in Q3 2016 against SAR 1,243 billion in Q2 2016, while daily average reverse repo transactions amounted to SAR 36.6 billion in Q3 2016 compared to SAR 29.3 billion in Q2 2016.
- Maintaining the cash reserve ratio at 7.0 percent for demand deposits and 4.0 percent for time and savings deposits.

1.2 Interest Rates

To encourage domestic banks to increase lending, SAMA continued to maintain the limit of weekly subscription in treasury bills for domestic banks at SAR 9 billion in Q3 2016. SIBOR rose to 2.2806 percent in Q3 2016. The three-month interest differential between the riyal and the dollar was 153 basis points in favor of the riyal at end-Q3 2016, compared to 145 basis points at end-Q2 2016. As for the riyal exchange rate against the dollar, it remained unchanged at its official peg rate of 3.75.

Among the tools that contribute to stabilized liquidity, SAMA, on behalf of government authorities, deposited nearly SAR 20 billion with banks. It also offered 7- and 28-day repo maturities, in addition to the current overnight maturity.

As regards foreign exchange swaps, SAMA did not make any swap transaction with domestic banks in Q3 2016.
