Guidelines to Apply for Payment Service Providers License

1 Introduction:

The Implementing Regulation of the Law of Payments and Payment Services stipulated the articles regulating licensing and the requirements necessary for engaging in payment activities and providing payment services. The Saudi Central Bank (SAMA) has prepared a form for applying for the license, and it was published on the Payments page on SAMA website at (www.sama.gov.sa). The applicant must comply with these Guidelines in conjunction with the Implementing Regulation of the Law of Payments and Payment Services and the relevant regulations, rules, instructions, and laws issued by SAMA.

2 Purpose:

These Guidelines aim to clarify the regulatory procedures and the requirements that must be met by the applicant when applying for a license to provide payment services. The applicant may apply for any of the following licenses, as defined in the Implementing Regulation of the Law of Payments and Payment Services:

- Micro Electronic Money Institution License (e-Wallet) (Micro EMI).
- Major Electronic Money Institution License (e-Wallet) (Major EMI).
- Micro Payment Institution License (Micro PI).
- Major Payment Institution License (Major PI).

4 The Licensing process consists of two stages:

- In-Principle Approval: The applicant must meet all regulatory requirements under Article 8 of the Implementing Regulation of the Law of Payments and Payment Services, along with all essential documents as detailed in Appendix (A) of these Guidelines. These documents must be duly signed and authenticated to support the application for in-principle approval. This approval is necessary to complete the Initial pre-licensing requirements and procedures such as issuing the commercial registration and documenting the articles of incorporation and bylaws with the Ministry of Commerce which are a pre-requisite for obtaining the final license from SAMA.
- Licensing Stage: After obtaining the in-principle approval, the applicant completes the final licensing requirements and is allowed to carry out the activity after fulfilling the requirements stipulated in the Implementing Regulation.

5 Procedures for payment service providers license application:

1. The applicant must read the Implementing Regulation of the Law of Payments and Payment Services carefully to understand the fundamental requirements. These regulations can be accessed on SAMA website.
2. The applicant must submit the license application form as specified by SAMA, along with any additional documents or information that SAMA may require.
3. The applicant must submit all essential documents shown in Appendix (A) of these Guidelines after ensuring they are duly signed and authenticated to support the application for obtaining the in-principle approval.
4. The applicant must ensure that attachments and essential documents are clear, in (PDF) format, and clearly labeled, and must avoid the use of compressed formats and large file sizes.
5. The applicant must provide accurate, clear, and complete information as required in the license application form, and disclose any other significant details that may be relevant. It is the responsibility of the applicant to refrain from providing misleading information in any form as it may reduce its chances of obtaining a license.
6. Every part of the application form should be completed. If a question is irrelevant to the applicant's work, the applicant must state that it is not applicable and attach/or explain the reasons. Failure to provide a completed form may result in the rejection of the application.
7. After completing the form and submitting it with all the supporting documents, SAMA will receive the application and start the review and evaluation process.
8. SAMA may request additional information or documents from the applicant at any stage of the licensing process. The applicant must provide SAMA with such information or documents as requested within 30 calendar days from the date of the request unless otherwise indicated by SAMA. Moreover, SAMA may reject the license application when the applicant does not provide such documents and information to SAMA's satisfaction within that period.
9. SAMA will inform the applicant in writing that the application received is accepted for further processing after examining and confirming that all supporting documents are correct and complete, provided that the applicant submits all information and documents necessary to satisfy the requirements stipulated in Article 8, including (but not limited to) the regulatory requirements mentioned in Appendix (A).
10. SAMA shall inform the Applicant in writing of its decision in relation to the License application within ninety calendar days from the date on which it notifies the Applicant that the License application is complete. In case of delay, SAMA shall notify the Applicant of the estimated timeline for assessing their application.

11. Upon completing the application assessment, SAMA may grant the Applicant in-principle approval to proceed with the incorporation and registration procedures according to the Companies Law, and complete the remaining requirements.

6 Submitting application form and supporting documents:
